The EverVolt is a lithium nickel manganese cobalt oxide (NMC) battery, while the EverVolt 2.0 is a lithium iron phosphate (LFP) battery, also known as a lithium-ion storage product. LFP batteries are one of the most common lithium-ion battery technologies and for a good reason. LFP batteries are known for their high power rating and safety.

Lithium-ion batteries are increasingly found in devices and systems that the public and first responders use or interact with daily. While these batteries provide an effective and efficient source of power, the likelihood of them overheating, catching on fire, and even leading to explosions increases when they are damaged or improperly used, charged, or stored.
